

Robert J. Kasunic

Robert Kasunic is a Principal Legal Advisor at the United States Copyright Office. At the Office, he has been involved with most domestic Internet, technology, and Digital Millennium Copyright Act issues before the Office, including acting as primary attorney for the triennial Anticircumvention Rulemaking proceedings since its inception, the Copyright Office's Orphan Works Report submitted to Congress, and the Section 104 Report mandated by Congress in the DMCA. He has been involved with numerous litigation and appellate issues before the Office, including the Government's activity including MGM Studios, Inc. v. Grokster, Ltd. He has also handled trademark, domain name, and antitrust issues that have arisen before the Office, including work on the Office's adoption of a new seal and logo.

In addition to his role at the Copyright Office, Mr. Kasunic is an Adjunct Professor of Law at Georgetown Law School and American University's Washington College of Law where he is beginning his sixth year teaching a seminar on Advanced Copyright Law and Policy. Previously, Mr. Kasunic was a Visiting Assistant Professor at the Washington College of Law for the 2006-2007 academic year and taught Copyright and the Arts at the University of Baltimore School of Law for eight years. Before arriving at the Copyright Office, Mr. Kasunic ran an IP practice which included defense of a parody website and major copyright infringement litigation against the Baltimore Ravens and National Football League Properties over the team's logo. He is the author of several published articles on copyright law and manages his own website on copyright law and litigation. <http://www.kasunic.com> He was past-Chair of the Washington, DC Chapter of the Copyright Society of the USA and Chair of the Copyright Committee for the IPL Section of the Bar Association of the District of Columbia. He received his B.A. in Political Science from Columbia University and his J.D. from the University of Baltimore School of Law. He is admitted to the bars of Maryland, the District of Columbia, the Fourth Circuit and the U.S. Supreme Court.